The airport related activities of LEBRUN are in a good growth phase. Indeed, with the world traffic growth, numerous airports and airlines wish to acquire ground air conditioning units.

Recently, LEBRUN is targeting more specifically Middle-East and Asia Pacific markets and emerging markets. They develop new products that have suitable power to provide air conditioning for aircrafts in those hot weather countries.

In order to meet the demand, LEBRUN needs to extend their production capabilities. The investment will create more assembly space and warehouses.
